Event: Mangrove Cleaning Drive at Bandra West.

Date: 27th May 2023.

Objectives: The main objective is to save the environment from further damage.

Highlight: The Volunteers of NSS Unit of Bunts Sangha's S.M. Shetty College of Science, Commerce & Management Studies Powai went for the mangrove beach clean-up in Bandra, which was organized by the Planet for Plants and Animals organization. There were a total of seven colleges that participated in this activity. There were also NCC cadets accompanying us for the activity and to escort the celebrant. As soon as the guest arrived, all the volunteers gave a NSS clap to the celebrant. The activity started around 8:30 a.m. Before the activity started, the organizer and a celebrity guest guided some key notes about today's activity and why all the volunteers are here today for this activity. Then the activity started, all the volunteers were given gloves and a garbage bag, and all the volunteers spread to various areas of the Beach along with their team to clean the respected area. Volunteers started collecting all the waste in the garbage bag. The activity went for 2 hours. After collecting the waste in the garbage bag, all the garbage bags were kept at one place so they could be transferred to the respective garbage trucks. Volunteers help the BMC workers transfer the garbage to the garbage truck, and then there is a photo shoot with each college with the organiser and then a group photo with all the volunteers. The organizers then arrange refreshment for all the volunteers and a hamper with some products of the sponsored team of that organization, and the activity comes to an end.
